

LEAD NOW! Development Process

Using the LEAD NOW! Model, Stewart Leadership delivers a complete leadership development system to identify and build leadership capability for results driven leaders at all levels. From the experience-proven LEAD NOW! Development Model, to the award-winning books, through online Self and 360° Assessments, individual coaching programs, and engaging group workshops and speeches, Stewart Leadership provides sustained solutions to the process of leading people, teams, and organizations.

Award-winning Leadership Content

Leadership Assessments

Award-winning books that use the LEAD NOW! Model and its 21 leadership dimensions to provide tips, action items, leadership gems, stories, and self-evaluation questions for the time-starved leader.

The LEAD NOW! Self and 360° Assessments are two insightful online tools that provide leaders with critical information on how their leadership effectiveness aligns with their leadership preferences (what they like to do), and how their boss, peers, and customers see their leadership ability.

Leadership Workshops & Presentations

Individual Leadership Coaching

Interactive and engaging workshops and presentations are designed around each of the 21 Leadership Dimensions from the LEAD NOW! Model. These workshops are tailored to each client group with specific Individual Action Plans to create sustained leadership development.

Individual coaching is provided to bring a more in-depth understanding of the LEAD NOW! Assessments and to create a clear and measurable Individual Action Plan for each leader. These sessions build an integrated learning approach using on-the-job experiences, social learning, and formal training.